Spanish Flu of 1918 – What Really Happened?

- In the United States, an estimated 675,000 people died from what was labeled the Spanish Flu. Worldwide, an estimated 50 million died from it.
- The public was told that it was caused by a germ or a virus.
- The public was not told about the studies which proved that Spanish Flu was NOT caused by either and was not contagious!

Doctors Try To Prove Spanish Flu
Was Contagious
But Failed!

Milton J. Rosenau M.D.
published his report in JAMA, August 2, 1919

on his attempts to prove that Spanish Flu
was contagious.

Ophthalmology has been awarded to several candidates since 1913. Arnold proposes the degrees of Master of Science in Medicine (M.S.Med.) and Doctor of Science in Medicine (D.S.Med.), which in scholarship are essentially equivalent to the well known graduate degrees, Master of Arts (A.M.) and Doctor of Philosophy (Ph.D.). In addition, he proposes a degree of Doctor of the Practice of Medicine (D.P.Med.). "The requirements for this degree should be essentially the same as for the D.S.Med., except that the time devoted to research and to the preparation of a thesis would be devoted to the development of higher technic and skill in practice."

The latter proposal, to establish a practitioner's degree without research or thesis, is open to serious objections. It would tend to sacrifice scholarship in favor of skill, and thus to yield an unbalanced and undesirable type of specialism. Rather would it seem better to insist that no specialistic training without scholarship requirements involving at least some original work should be crowned by a university graduate degree.

Judging from our experience at Minnesota, graduate students in clinical branches will fall into three groups: Some will be unable to meet the thesis and associated requirements. This deficiency will debar them from being candidates for the higher degrees, irrespective of their technical skill in routine clinical work. Others will be able to produce a fairly creditable thesis, exhibiting some capacity for independent thought, though distinctly below the standard of scholarship ordinarily required for the doctor's degree in the graduate school. These may properly be awarded the degree of Master of Science (M.S.) in the special field. The third class, who measure fully up to the highest standards of both skill and scholarship, are awarded the degree of Doctor of Philosophy (Ph.D.) in the special field involved. We formerly awarded the degree of Doctor of Science (D.Sc.) for the same purpose, but abandoned it in recognition of the growing tendency to use this for an honorary degree.

The use of the M.S. and Ph.D. degrees (qualified or unqualified) for graduate work in the medical sciences is in accordance with the recommendations of the Committee on Degrees (A. C. Eycleshymer, chairman) at the recent meeting of the Association of American Medical Colleges in Chicago in March, 1919. The Ph.D. degree, as pointed out by Shambaugh, Vincent, Lyon and others, has the advantage of being thoroughly established, carrying with it everywhere the certification of ability in original thought and training in scientific methods. The qualification of the degree by the addition of the special field of clinical medicine involved should add to this a further recognition of practical ability in that professional field. It should indicate to the world that the recipient of this degree has undergone a long and careful training, both theoretical and practical; that he has met the most rigid tests both of skill and of scholarship; and that he is well qualified for leadership in his chosen field of specialism in medicine.

CONCLUSIONS

We must recognize an increasing need for medical specialism, especially in connection with the development of the group system in medical practice. For the training of efficient specialists, adequate facilities are in general available only in the medical schools of the stronger universities. These schools should organize graduate work for systematic training of medical specialists along broad lines, including the necessary foundation in fundamental scientific work, practical clinical instruction and training in research methods. Work thus planned in accordance with the ideals of skill and scholarship will yield the most efficient type of specialist. Successful candidates may approximately receive the degree of Master of Science or Doctor of Philosophy, specifying the field of proficiency.

EXPERIMENTS TO DETERMINE MODE OF SPREAD OF INFLUENZA*

MILTON J. ROSENAU, M.D.

BOSTON

The experiments here described were performed on an island in Boston Harbor, on volunteers obtained from the Navy. The work was conducted by a group of officers detailed for that purpose, from the U. S. Navy and the U. S. Public Health Service, consisting of Dr. G. W. McCoy, director of the Hygienic Library, Dr. Joseph Goldberger, Dr. Leake, and Dr. Lake, all on the part of the U. S. Public Health Service; and cooperating with those medical officers, was a group also detailed for this purpose on the part of the U. S. Navy, consisting of Dr. J. J. Keegan, Dr. De Wayne Richey and myself.

The work itself was conducted at Gallops Island, which is the quarantine station of the Port of Boston, and peculiarly well fitted for operations of this kind, serving adequately for the purposes of isolation, observations, and maintenance of the large group of volunteers and personnel necessary to take care of them.

The volunteers were all of the most susceptible age, mostly between 18 and 25, only a few of them around 30 years old; and all were in good physical condition. None of these volunteers, 100 all told in number, had "influenza;" that is, from the most careful histories that we could elicit, they gave no account of a febrile attack of any kind during the winter, except a few who were purposely selected, as having shown a typical attack of influenza, in order to test questions of immunity, and for the purpose of control.

Now, we proceeded rather cautiously at first by administering a pure culture of bacillus of influenza, Pfeiffer's bacillus, in a rather moderate amount, into the nostrils of a few of these volunteers.

These early experiments I will not stop to relate, but I will go at once to what I may call our Experiment 1.

EXPERIMENTS AT GALLOPS ISLAND

As the preliminary trials proved negative, we became bolder, and selecting nineteen of our volunteers, gave each one of them a very large quantity of a mixture of thirteen different strains of the Pfeiffer bacillus, some of them obtained recently from the lungs at necropsy; others were subcultures of varying age, and each of the thirteen had, of course, a different history. * This paper and those by Drs. Frost, Park and Conner, which follow are part of a symposium on "Influenza." The remaining papers and the discussion will appear in the issues for August 9 and 16.

The Experiment 1

The experiment involved using 100 healthy soldiers who volunteered to participate.

It also involved using patients who were sick with the supposed Spanish Flu.

The Experiment 2

They transferred saliva from the mouth of sick patients to the soldiers but none of the soldiers became sick!

They tried transferring the mucus from sick patients to the soldiers but none of the soldiers became sick!

The Experiment 3

They tried transferring the blood from sick patients to the soldiers but none of the soldiers became sick.

They even went so far as to extract the body fluids from corpses of those who died from Spanish Flu and gave this to the soldiers , but again none of the soldiers developed Spanish Flu!

The Experiment 4

In their last attempt, they even had patients who had Spanish Flu, actually cough into the face of the soldiers and the soldiers were instructed to breathe in at the same time. This was done several times, but again the soldiers did not get sick!

The Experiment 5

The Milton Experiment proved that Spanish Flu was not contagious!

Dr. Milton Concluded:

As a matter of fact, we entered the outbreak with a notion that we knew the cause of the disease, and were quite sure we knew how it was transmitted from person to person. Perhaps, if we have learned anything, it is that we are not quite sure what we know about the disease.

The Vaccine Connection

In 1917, the soldiers were given an experimental vaccine for meningitis.

Three meningitis vaccines were given to soldiers in increasing dosages over a 10-day period.

This was first done at Fort Riley in Kansas which is also where the first outbreak of Spanish flu took place.

(Received for publication, July 20, 1918.)

Following an outbreak of epidemic meningitis at Camp Funston, Kansas, in October and November, 1917, a series of antimeningitis vaccinations was undertaken on volunteer subjects from the camp. Major E. H. Schorer, Chief of the Laboratory Section at the adjacent Base Hospital at Fort Riley, offered every facility at his command and cooperated in the laboratory work connected with the vaccinations. In the camp, under the direction of the Division Surgeon, Lieutenant Colonel J. L. Shepard, a preliminary series of vaccinations on a relatively small number of volunteers served to determine the appropriate doses and the resultant local and general reactions. Following this series, the vaccine was offered by the Division Surgeon to the camp at large, and given by the regimental surgeons to all who wished to take it.

Preliminary Series.

The preliminary series of vaccinations was carried out in the 342nd Field Artillery Regiment through the courtesy of Colonel Nugent and Major Czar C. Johnson, surgeon of the regiment. This organization volunteered en masse in response to the call issued by the Division Surgeon and offered a most promising opportunity for an extended series of observations. Moreover, only one case of meningitis had developed in the 342nd Field Artillery and the regiment had recently been covered in the search for meningococcus carriers. Dur-

Multiple Additional Vaccines Were Given To Soldiers

- 14 to 25 different vaccines were also given to soldiers in addition to the meningitis vaccines.
- The soldiers became very sick.
- The doctors responded by giving them even stronger vaccines and other medications.
- This made the situation even worse, and the soldiers started dying horribly.

Adverse Reactions 1

Insanity – Which was later called “Shell Shock” even though many of those affected never left their military base.

High fever

Extreme Weakness

Abdominal Rash

Adverse Reactions 2

Intestinal Disturbances – similar to typhoid

Lung Congestion

Extreme Difficulty Breathing

Gaspings

Death

Shifting The Blame

There were so many injuries and deaths being caused by the vaccines that the blame was shifted from the vaccines by calling it Spanish Flu.

Spain, of course, had nothing to do with it.

America did not even have a base in Spain.

Spain was also neutral during World War I.

What Caused The General Public To Get Sick 1

World War I ended much sooner than the drug companies anticipated, and they had excess stockpiles of vaccines to sell.

As a result, they launched a massive scare campaign telling the public that soldiers returning from the war, would be bringing back all types of diseases.

The public was encouraged to take all of the vaccines on the market and millions did!

What Caused The Public To Get Sick 2

Once the public started taking these vaccines, that is when they started getting sick and dying.

It has been estimated that at least 675,000 Americans died from what was called Spanish Flu.

Millions of others suffered through all types of serious adverse reactions to the vaccines.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 11—President Wilson has issued this statement on the Fourth Liberty Loan campaign:

"Recent events have enhanced, not lessened, the importance of this loan, and I hope that my fellow countrymen will let me say this to them very frankly. The best thing that could happen would be that the loan should be fully subscribed, and very greatly oversubscribed. We are in the midst of the greatest exercise of the power of this country that has ever been witnessed or forecast, and a single day of relaxation in that effort would be of tragical damage alike to ourselves and to the rest of the world. Nothing has happened which makes it safe or possible to do anything but push your effort to the utmost. The time is critical and the response must be complete."

ALL BOULDER HAS BEEN QUARANTINED

Schools, Churches, Movies, Pool Halls Suspended

Case Historical and National Capital Building

The open letter of Dr. Miles, Boulder's city health officer, in several papers, moved the public to take action. Announcements were made in many of the churches Sunday at the request of the Boulder Commercial association, that there would be no gatherings of the churches until further notice and in the afternoon representative men met with the Health Officer and Manager E. O. Heinrich at the latter's request, for conference. It was evident that the citizens of Boulder propose to place this city in line with the rest of the country in an effort to suppress the epidemic rather than to surrender to it.

Present were Drs. LaRue, F. H. Farrington, Gilbert, Reed, Clay Griffith and Robertson, representing the Boulder County Medical association; Mayor Moys, Mrs. Ma M. Campbell, representing the civic committee of the Woman's club, and a member of the city council; acting president of the State University Dr. George Noelin, Dr. Francis Ramsley and Dr. M. P. Libby; J. A. Cook and F. E. Noel, representing the Commercial association; A. Davis and Superintendent Casey, representing the school board; C. A. Howard, Rev. Roy C. A. Howard, Rev. Lucius F. Reed, representing the Ministerial Alliance; W. A. F. Bloecker, representing Boulder manufacturers; Councilman F. H. Eastman; Col. Barber, U. S. A. Fort Logan and Major Bennett, U. S. A. in command of the hospital camps at the University of Colorado, and Dr. M. E. Miles.

Manager Heinrich explained the situation and what other communities were doing and said he had called the meeting so the executive might be advised.

It was apparent from the statement by Dr. Miles that he felt that stopping of gatherings might help. Drs. Farrington and Gilbert were sure that it would while Dr. LaRue frankly admitted, as president of the Medical association, that he was on the fence, while he said he had, as president of the Medical association, asked the surgeon general for advice. Dr. Farrington said the doctors present had an average of fifty or sixty cases, that they were likely to be worn out and that nurses are already worn out. He and Dr. Libby were insistent that everything possible be done to discourage meetings and to use the strong arm of the city to prevent grouping of the population.

On motion of L. C. Paddock this was decided as the sense of the meeting, all churches, schools, places of amusement, lodges and public and private meetings to be suspended indefinitely.

Manager Heinrich said that he accepted this resolution as the will of the people and it would be executed. He asked the sense of the meeting as to how much money the city might spend in meeting the emergency. "As this seems to be a case where life of our citizens are at stake, my opinion is that the people would not place a limit on expense," said J. A. Inglis, amid applause. Mr. Heinrich said that probably a mill more would be needed for health purposes.

Teachers to Help City in Enforcing Regulations

Dr. Libby suggested that as the teachers' salaries are to go on while schools are closed, they should be asked to help the health department.

This was decided on and already the co-operation of principals and teachers has been secured.

They are to meet every morning from 8 to 9:30 at their school building for conference. Each principal is assigned the district adjacent to the school and the teachers are to visit homes and report their condition as to sickness and all important data. The teachers are to give the same hours to this work as they have given the schools. The Phi Delta have also volunteered as special police under the health department.

Dr. Miles entered heartily into the spirit of the meeting and all the forces are united.

As to the University, Dr. Noelin stated that there is to be a meeting at the governor's office this afternoon to determine the action of all the colleges. They will, doubtless, be closed and all students dismissed except those of S. A. T. C.

Col. Barber and Major Bennett stated that the influenza had run its course in the Montana contingent at the University. It is now among the students more recently assembled there.

Manager Heinrich said today that Miss Cecil Davis, visiting nurse, had been called from that work to be in charge of the field work and would remain at the office of the health department.

Manager Heinrich's official order is published in this issue.

Only The Vaccinated Were Getting Sick

- Dr. Eleanor McBean, author of the book: The Poisoned Needle, who lived through the Spanish Flu, reported that only the vaccinated were getting sick!
- Both of her parents were doctors who refused to take the vaccines and did not allow their children to take them. None of them became sick with Spanish Flu!
- Her parents regularly visited families who were sick with the supposed Spanish Flu, but neither of them ever became sick with it!

The Public Was Still Kept In The Dark

- Despite the obvious link to the vaccines, the public was being told that people were getting sick because of a germ or virus!
- The public was told to wear a mask , social distance, wash their hands frequently etc. This is the same thing people are being told today regarding COVID!

Even Today:

Most doctors and scientists claim that the 1918 Spanish Flu was caused by a contagious virus.

Most mainstream media still claim that it was caused by a virus.

Can we afford to continue to blindly trust doctors and the mainstream news media?

The 1976 Swine Flu Hoax

The Start of Swine Flu

It began at the military base: Fort Dix, in New Jersey.

Some soldiers complained about respiratory problems.

Health officials took throat samples from the soldiers.

The Results

Local health officials could not find anything abnormal, so the samples were turned over to the CDC.

The CDC concluded that 5 of the soldiers had Swine Flu.

One of the men, David Lewis, was sick, but was forced to go on a march. He collapsed and a few days later died.

The other 4 men fully recovered!

Creating Public Panic 1

- The public was told about the one soldier who died and supposedly had Swine Flu, but the public was not told about the fact that he was sick and died after being forced to go on a march!
- The public was also not told about the 4 other men who supposedly had Swine Flu, but fully recovered!

Creating Public Panic 2

Despite the absence of evidence, the CDC launched a massive national campaign to encourage the public to get the Swine Flu shot.

Deceptive, but compelling commercials, were released about the supposed threat from Swine Flu.

Print media was also used as part of this campaign.

Even President Gerald Ford joined the effort to encourage the public to take the Swine Flu shot.

The CDC's Deceptive Consent Forms 1

People were asked to sign consent forms before they could receive a swine flu shot.

The forms only listed minor side effects, but not the fact that the shot could cause serious neurological problems.

CDC Deceptive Consent Forms 2

- The CDC consent forms also stated that the swine flu vaccine had been field tested.
- Amazingly, people were not given the vaccine that was cited on the consent form, but a different vaccine called X53A which had not been field tested! This deception was exposed on the news program: 60 Minutes with Mike Wallace.

The Public Blindly Obeyed

- An estimated 46 million Americans did get the swine flu shot.
- An estimated 4,000 people suffered serious neurological damage called Guillain-Barré Syndrome which caused people to become paralyzed and in some cases even death!
- Lawsuits were filed totaling $3.5 billion!

Deception

Once again, we see that the public trust was betrayed, and innocent people were harmed and killed by a vaccine!

COVID-19

Terrorizing The Public

Origin of COVID 1

It started in Wuhan China. It was first claimed to be due to people eating bats. Later, the blame was shifted to a nearby biological warfare laboratory.

There were also other dangerous things taking place in Wuhan China. They had a serious pollution problem that was making people sick.

They also had a huge number of 5G towers which some have speculated contributed to people getting sick.

Origin of COVID 2

- The people of Wuhan were not allowed to leave the city and were confined to their apartments.
- Huge trucks, along with robots, and drones were spraying the city with unknown chemicals that were presumed to be disinfectants. This also could have contributed to respiratory and other health problems that people were having.

Wuhan Repeatedly Sprayed With Disinfectants (video)

How Dangerous Is Covid? 1

- According to the CDC's website, the symptoms for COVID are identical to colds, flus and pneumonia. There are other symptoms that have been reported and some believe are linked to COVID, but have not been placed on the CDC's list of COVID symptoms.
- The recovery rate from what is called COVID, is well over 99% for most age groups.
- Most deaths attributed to COVID have been among the very elderly in their 80s and who were already suffering from life threatening conditions including cancer, heart disease, diabetes etc.

How Dangerous Is Covid? 2

- The risk of death from COVID for children and teens is statistically near zero and the same is true of those under 70 years old and in average good health.
- In 2020, the all-cause mortality count was actually lower than in the previous years. This was despite all of the fear mongering news reports about massive deaths from COVID.

How Dangerous Is Covid? 3

- The CDC eventually admitted that the number of deaths that they had reported were grossly inflated.
- Out of the over 600,000 deaths that they claimed were due to COVID, they admitted that only 6% of those did not have other life-threatening conditions that could have caused their deaths.

Has It Been Proven To Be A Virus? 1

Whether viruses cause disease is a debate that has been going on for many decades even though the general public has not been aware of this debate.

Has It Been Proven To Be A Virus? 2

- With regards to COVID or SARS-COV-2, which is the name given the virus, doctors, scientists and researchers have been arguing that no such virus has been isolated and purified.
- These individuals include: Dr. Tom Cowan, Dr. Andrew Kaufman, Dr. Stephan Lanka, Dr. Dave Rasnick, Dr. Sam Bailey, Dr. Mark Bailey, Christine Massey and others.
- These issues are complicated, but they need to be discussed and a consensus reached.

How Dangerous Are The COVID Shots?

- The COVID shots have injured and killed more people than all of the other vaccines combined over the past 20 years.
- Pfizer's own documents submitted to the FDA and released by court order to the public, revealed that their COVID shot had close to 1,300 adverse reactions that it could cause. This does not include the other manufacturers of COVID vaccines.
- The FDA documents also showed that over 1,200 people died after receiving the Pfizer COVID shot during its trial over a 90-day period, with most of the deaths occurring in the first 3 days.

How Dangerous Are COVID Shots 2

- Insurance companies revealed that the death count in 2021 jumped 40%, which was way beyond anything normal.

VAERS Data COVID Shots

From December 2020 through June 2022, there were 1,295,329 adverse reactions from the COVID injections, reported to VAERS.

This included 28,714 deaths.

VAERS data released Friday by the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention show 1,295,329 reports of adverse events from all age groups following COVID-19 vaccines, including 28,714 deaths and 236,767 serious injuries between Dec. 14, 2020, and June 3, 2022.

VAERS – The Real Numbers Are Worse

The numbers in VAERS are only a fraction of the actual number of injuries and deaths.

Most people don't know about VAERS and therefore most cases are not reported.

Most doctors are very reluctant to report vaccine injuries to VAERS.

Some estimate that the VAERS numbers should be multiplied by 40 while others believe they should be multiplied by 100 to get a more realistic estimate of the injures and deaths caused by vaccines.

Victims of the COVID Vaccine (video)

Summary 1

Regardless of what a person thinks COVID really is, the facts prove that the threat has been grossly exaggerated just as it has for Spanish Flu, Swine Flu, and H1N1.

The medical establishment and the media have once again thrown the country into a panic that was not justified.

Again, the public was told and pressured into taking shots which ended up crippling and even killing otherwise healthy individuals.

Summary 2

The public is being subjected to the same manipulations again and again!

It is time for people to wake up and put an end to these cycles of abuse! People must question everything and demand PROOF!

The power is with the people!

My book: Vaccines Are Dangerous, goes into a lot more detail on these topics along with extensive references.
